POLICE LAUNCH ATTEMPTING HUGE SEAS RESCUE IN

Driven ashore at the height of the storm the Butterfield and Swire steamer, Sunning, 2,555 tons, British officered, and with 40 passengers aboard, was reported at 6 a.m. to-day to be breaking up rapidly off Rennie's Mill, Junk Bay.

No. 1 Police launch was attempting to effect a rescue through terrific seas, and little hope is held out for the passengers and crew on the ship.

The Chief Capilano, the big freighter which has been at anchor in Kowloon Bay for some months past, laid up, and with only watchmen aboard, has brok en adrift and stranded off Bailey's shipbuilding yards. No apprehension is felt for those aboard.

A number of persons were killed and injured in the crowded, Chinese quarters of Hongkong during the night. Several houses collapsed. Police were taking stock of the damage and casualties at the time of going to press, but it was known that at least four were killed and a dozen more or less seriously injured.

One of the Chinese gunboats which was moored in the harbour, broke adrift and was blown some distance, finally taking hold again off-West-Point. She-is-another, but no serious damage has now believed to be safe.

Tsun Wan, in the New Territories, was badly flooded and many houses collapsed. Property damage is serious throughout the New Territories, Kowloon and Hongkong island.

SPANISH

from Bengal wearing white burnooses four yards long, rubbed shoulders with Maswaris key from Rajputana: the tall, hefty, 1879 turbaned Frontiersmen contrasted sharply with the puny; barefoot, Orthodox Brahmin from South India.

Fifty thousand "sadhus" (wandering asceties) belonging to 72 sects) had gathered from all parts of India. Some of them, riding on princely Oscar Slater Married elephants commanded no less respect than ruling princes, and realized several thousand rupres as offerings from the simple village folk. Besides the "sadhus," the grounds swarmed with men and women beggars and lepers, both genuine and fake. They carried a cup or utensil in each hand and demanded silver or copper to pay the debt of the sun, which, according to the Indian astrological calendar, had been inwith a man's head and the other by Lina Wilhelmina Schad. a man with serpent's head. The eclipse is caused when one or the other of the planets swallows the sun for failure to pay his debts. Il's is released only when some charitable MINE person pays them by giving alms. Eventually she consented to do so." After an unpleasant interview she back the ring.

ENGAGEMENT RING COSTING £150

Mr. Hawes bought an engagement ring, costing about £150. On November 11 he told Mrs. Hayde, plaintiff's mother; that they had formally become engaged, and the matter was sealed with something to drink. At Mr. Hawes's request, plaintiff obtained release from her beauty parlour contract. Miss Hayde agreed to accompany Mr. Hawes to Britain to be married there, it being arranged that they should return to set up home in Calcutta.

They sailed from Bombay in April, occupying separate cabins. When they arrived. London was very busy over the Jubilce celebrations. They failed to obtain rooms at two hotels. Mr. Hawes then said that he knew an hotel near Leicester Square, and they

GROWDER'S SUCCESS IN SINGAPORE

EULOGISED BY CRITICS

SEVEN VICTIMS IN INNINGS

Alec Growder, former Hongkong Cricket Club bowler, continues to dominate cricket in Singapore. Playing for the Colony against Malaya a few days ago, he captured twelve wickets for 52 runs in the course of two innings. In the first innings he took 7 for 31 and in the second 5 for 21.

following comments apropos the match and Growder's performances were made by "Nimrod", Singapore Free 🖟 Press sports commentator, in a recent issue.

A feature of Malayan cricket this year has been the dominance of the ball over the bat, and the Colony-F.M.S. clash over the week-end was no exception. ports of the wicket being had were only to a certain extent correct and I do not think the bowling was as good as the batsmen made it out to be. We have almost become used to seeing batsmen trying to play slow bowling from their crease, irrespective of its tength, direction or spin, but one expects that players picked for an F.M.S. side would really attempt to use their feet and deal with it in the correct way.

GROWDER HEADS COLONY BOWLERS

A. C. Growder, the Queensland player, crowned his as yet short cricketing career in Malaya, by his feat of 12 wickets for 52 runs. This puts him at the head 'of Colony bowlers in the series for no other trundler has taken so many wickets. O. Scharenguivel has occupied the head of the list since 1925 when he took 11 F.M.S. wickets for 57 runs at Kuala Lumpur. in spite of which the side lost. Slx years before though Dr. J. A. "Scharenguivel" took nine wickets for 57 runs at Kuala Lumpur. Two States bowlers though have taken more than 12 wickets in a match, the champion being R. M. Mackenzie with 16 for 80 runs in 1911 at Penang (9 for 48 and 7 for 32) and E. N. W. Wyatt is next with 13 for 104 in 1907 in Singapore (7 for 46 and 6 for 58). Growder's main assets as a bowler are his ability to control his length and break and to introduce decep--tive-flight-to-his-deliveries.---

£1050 FOR POLO PONY

Record Price For Public Auction in England

The highest price ever paid for a polo pony at public auction in England was realised at Messrs. Tattersail's sale, at Knightsbridge last month when Major N. W. Leaf (late 15th/19th Hussars) received 1,000 guineas for Valentine, a six-year-old brown mare (by Bay Rhum II.— Dorothy), bred by Mr. F. J. Balfour in the Argentine.

She was played in California last winter by the owner and by Mr. E. H. Tyrrell-Martin in the international matches at Hurlingham, as well as in the Rochampton Open and Champlon Cup tournaments. The previous record English nuction price for a polo pony, which has stood for over ten years, was 860 guineas.

Major Leaf sent up his entire stud of nine, all but one of which were sold for an aggregate of 3,394 guineas, or an average of just over 424 guineas. Other good prices were 700 guineas for Venado, a nine-yearold Argentine-bred bay gelding, imported by Major S. C. Deed, which was also played by Mr. Tyrrell-Martin: 460 guineas for Rosa, a chestnut; 340 guineas for Domingo. a chestnut unsexed son of Bay Rhum II.; 300 guinens for Maybe, a bay, and 260 guineas for Elena, a chestnut Lineament, a seven-year-old Eng-Hsh, thoroughbred chestnut gelding (by Square Measure-Margaret Elizabeth), that was played by Mr. Gerald Balding, was sold to dissolve a partnership, and fetched 260 guineas.

Perry May Yet Turn Professional

He Is At The Parting Of The Ways Says Trevor Wignall

London, July 22. The announcement from New York yesterday that Miss Helen Vinson (Mrs. Fred Perry) was recovering from a sudden illness permits me to relate that for several recent days the British Davis Cup tennis team was in danger of losing its principal player in the challenge round against Australia, says Trevor Wignall in the Daily Express.

Prior, to his defeat by Budge, the | young American, at Eastbourne last week, Perry was so upset by a cablegram he received that he caused it to be known that if a long-distance call he proposed to put in to his wife was not entirely satisfactory he would sail for New York three days before the final matches in the Davis Cup tournament were due to be contested.

This, let it be emphasized, is not mentioned as an excuse for the trimming he accepted from Budge.

Fortunately the telephone conversation later in the evening was of a reassuring enature. But for that Perry would now probably be on the high seas.

And what would Britain have done then, poor thing?

NOT AGAIN!

The youngster Budge has proved himself to be one of the eleverest tennis players in the world, but, although he deserved his victory last week, there are not many who think he will repeat it if he is drawn against Perry in the American champloaships. Perry, like many more of us, is a creature of moods, and it was but natural that he became worried when he heard that the celebrated film actress he married only a few months ago was in a rather serious condition.

She was none too well when she left England, but it was her bad luck to run into one of the most terrific heat waves the United States has ever experienced. This laid her

ON THE BORDER

I do not think I am giving away too much if I say that Perry is once more, at the parting of the ways. "When he reaches New York on Aug. 10 next the strongest effort yet made will be launched to induce him to turn professional.

It is realised that paid-for-play tennis is in a bad slump, and it is ledge of the game will fit him for | further believed that he is the sole person who can again transform it linto a highly remunerative proposi-

He is in his 27th year, and although he is no more wishful than ever he was to change his status, he is wisely looking forward to the years to come. .

I write without his authority in this connection, but it would not surprise me in the least if within a few months from now he makes the plunge into the professional ranks. If, remembering the thin line that divides big amateur tennis from the professional kind, he sought m advice, I would counsel him to do

In the second doubles it was the Portuguese who won, B. V. de Senna and A. S. Costa defeating R. Blesel and S. Meilman of the United States by 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2. Only two doubles matches were played yesterday, three singles match between these countries being arranged for this afternoon.

Carson, the Shanghal champion, and his partner seemed to take the match rather lightly yesterday. They failed to settle down in the first set, and while their opponents were playing very steadily.. The result was that the opening game, the Portuguese took the next four games and maintained their lead to capture the first set. Collaco was playing very well in all departments, his ground strokes being more effective than those of the others. His partner, Marcal, proved a big help to the Portuguese cause in the matter of tossing up well placed lobs. He kept the Americans running back to recover without much success in the first set.

FORCEFUL PLAY

Carson and Squires played more forcefully throughout the next two sets and stayed ahead all the way! The greater strength of their attack at net overcame the Portuguese but not without some fast and exciting rallies. Squires also made errors in treating the tensing lobs of the Portuguese.

A lead of 5-2 for the Portuguese in the fourth set gradually disappeared as the Americans took five successive games to conclude the affair. Before the match was over, rain fell quite heavily for about ten minutesout of a blue and sunny sky. Only a few little clouds were drifting above, but they were all full of rain. The brand of tennis in the second doubles was well below that seen on the first court. Biesel and Meilman failed to combine, with any success and lost the erratic contest after winning the third set. UNITED STATES RECAPTURES SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIP FROM JAPANESE

A second place gained by Jack Medica in the 1,500 Metres Free Style at the Olympic Games at Berlin was sufficient to give: the United States the Men's Swimming Championship, which was taken from them by the Japanese in the 1932 Games held at Los Angeles.

The Americans also retained the Women's Swimming Championship in spite of a spirited challenge by Holland's mermaids. They had only three and a half points to spare at the end.

Many German successes were registered in the rowing events. Germany finished a long way ahead of the other countries, although Great Britain won the double sculls and United States the eight-oar race.

ENGLAND MAKES GOOD START AGAINST ALL INDIA

Magnificent batting by Walter Hammond, who scored 217 runs, and T. S. Worthington, who made 128, enabled England to put up 471 runs for eight wickets in the third and final Cricket Test against India which commenced at the Oval on Saturday.

These two batsmen established a new English Test fourthwicket partnership in this match, when they added 266 runs during the 175 minutes that they were associated together at the Wazir Ali made a costly mistake when he dropped Hammond when the latter's score was only 96. After his let-off, the Gloucester all-rounder batted in magnificent form.

WILLIAM MORRIS: ARTIST, WRITER, SOCIALIST. Edited by May Morris, with an Introduction by Bornard Shaw. (Basil Blackwell, 2 vols., 52s. 6d.)

To was a good idea of Miss Morris to collect in these two stately volumes over a thousand unprinted pages of her father's work. We cannot have too much of him, and I can imagine few things more healthy for the Socialist Movement than a return to the spirit

he embodied. His fine militancy, his hatred of ugliness, his noble anger, his love of, and faith in, the common man, all these are supremely illustrated

The Morris they reveal is essentially the Morris we already know. Whether he is chastising Bellamy's suburban Utopia, or noting the impossibility of anarchism, or depleting, with incomparable vigour, the horrors of "Bloody Sunday," or writing on a coal strike or the artisan as artist or what a factory might be like-it is always the old, incomparable Morris whom to know is to love and whom to love is to be made inescapably a living part of

A Great Artist

These thousand pages illustrate once more the truth that is becoming clearer to us to-day than it was when Morris first joined the Socialist Movement. The price of the capitalist system had aroused anger in great artists before, him-above all in Carlyle and Dickens. But he was, I think, the first great artist in our literature consciously and deliberately to ally himself to the workers' cause and to recognise that his sympathy carried with it profound personal obligations. He paid his debt nobly. It is not only that he gave the Movement two of its imperishable classics. It is not only, also, that day in and day out he gave it that kind of personal service which is the vital condition of its health. It is not only that he took the pains to equip himself to be a formidable controversialist in its

Perhaps even more important than all this is the road that led him to Socialism. He came to it through the sheer intensity of his moral insight. He joined it because, as a great artist, he could not bear the meanness and the ugliness of the lives about him. Cthers had seen, not less vividly than he, the hollowness of a civilisation built only on the cash nexus. Others, again, and notably Matthew Arnold, had emphasised how unreal were the pretensions of the governing class to the power they enjoyed.

But Morris was not content with exposure. He attacked the roots of the system: he set out a considered afternative. He told his generation that only the private ownership of the means of production stood in the way of a life that might mean beauty and happiness for all men.

Like A Prophet

Once that insight had been vouchsafed to him like a prophet of old he set out to communicate his vision to others. He lectured about it, wrote about it, sang about it. All his life was transformed by his dream. He determined to make a vigorous economic philosophy an integral part of our literature. How marvellously he succeeded these volumes amply testify. He was a poet, and he became an ngitator. He was a rich craftsman. and he became a determined revolu-Disappointment, intrigue. jealousy, came his way-the intensity of his faith transcended them all These pages show how fully he realised the price that might have to be paid for victory: It is typical of his courage that he faced squarely the need to pay that price.

There was never any going back. There was never any mealy-mouthed attempt to diminish the proportions of the enterprise to which he had set his hand. If some deserted him, he found others to take their place. If others emphasised their doubt whether a poet, and craftsman could properly concern himself with the method of politics, he simply shrugged his shoulders and went on with his appointed task.

He ald not bother himself about leaders. He took his place in the army to which he felt called with the same grand and militant simplicity that Kelr Hardie and Lenin showed when they had found their cause.

In Shirt-sleeves

There is a great lesson for all of us In this, and it is the more fully enforced because in these pages Miss Morris, as it were, has admitted us into her father's workshop, and the man we see is in his shirt-sleeves, caring heartily, dashing off a page here, a song there, or, less hurriedly, putting into coherent form that indictment of capitalist civilisation which will live as long as our history.

The whole is enriched by some illuminating pages from Bernard Shaw, Sometimes, as so often when Mr. Shaw writes of his Socialist days, one may doubt whether he understands Marxism or whether he has ever seen the Fabians in their full historic perspective. , But we cannot help deep gratitude for glimpses of Morris which make him alive and grand.

THE question of hospital flag days in London and Greater London has been discussed at a series of conferences held by representatives of the hospitals following a suggestion by the Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police that the number of appeals should be

The Advisory Committee on Street Collections had recom-mended that flag days in aid of similar objects should be concentrated into one day. As, however, last year hospital flag days in London and its outlying districts numbered 66, it was found that restriction to a single day of the intensive appeal would be impracticable.

Flag day results are largely governed by local circumstances. Saturday, perhaps, the best day for a suburban collection, would be the worst in central London. Many sellers help more than one hospital, and for this reason also a one-day appeal would greatly reduce the potential maximum result. A rainy potential maximum result. B. & S. Vessel Breaking Up in Junk Bay

B. I. LINER NARROWLY ESCAPES DISASTER

With six vessels driven ashore in Hongkong waters, one of them with passengers aboard, immense damage to junks and smaller craft for miles along the seafront and the death roll steadily mounting, the Colony is taking stock of its damage from the typhoon which passed south of Gap Rock early this morning.

The Butterfield and Swire steamer Sunning, 2,555 tons, Captain Brown, lies with a broken back in Junk Bay and is reported to be rapidly breaking up. It is believed that at least a portion of her 40 passengers have been rescued. She is British officered.

The Hydrangea is a total loss, having been driven ashore on Stonecutters' Island, where she rests on the football field, it is stated. The big freighter, Chief Capilano, is ashore. The Customs Cruiser Hoi Tung is hard aground, the Polee damaged and the Shun On a

Some are believed to be aboard the No. 1 Police Launch, which was expected to arrive in harbour at 3 p.m. with survivors from the wreck.

Others are known to have been saved from shore by contingents of army men who were in camp at Junk Bay. when the Sunning went ashore. This contingent of survivors is now en route to Hongkong overland by foot, no other means of conveyance being available. Pounded to Pieces

WIDELY SCATTERED ACCIDENTS

The death roll in the typhoon is steadily mounting. While it was earlier thought that the Colony had escaped serious loss of life, reports trickling in throughout the morning and early afternoon indicated that the death list is considerable. It is still impossible to estimate the toll in the territory surrounding Hongkong, but police have reports of seven deaths in Hongkong and Kowloon.

About 150 persons were injured at Stanley in the early hours of this morning when three matsheds collapsed. Only three were killed, and three more seriously injured.

The dead men were: Kwok Ngok, aged 35, married; Ng Kwoon, aged 23, single; and Leung Cheung, 22, single.

The injured, who were removed to the Government Civil Hospital, were: Chan Wah, aged 35, married, in-juries to the leg; Ah Tak, aged 15, single, injuries of a similar nature; and Ho Hok, 23, single, head injuries.

WHIPS APPREHENSIVE COLONY

The edge of the typhoon which struck this apprehensive Colony this morning did serious damage at Macao and Canton as well, according to cabled advices.

Reuter's correspondent in Canton says: The most serious typhoon in years has been raging in Canton since 3 a.m. to-day, and has caused widespread damage. Many houses collapsed, sampans were wrecked and numerous trees uprooted.

Ten are reported to have been killed in the city and the casualties on the West River are unknown.

Electric wires are down, and the electric power and light is completely cut off.

Our correspondent in Macao says the severe typhoon raging there since 2 a.m. has now abated. Scores of fishing craft have been sunk and scores more are ashore. The sea walls have been damaged. There was no great damage done ashore.

BERLIN OLYMPIC GAMES

UNITED STATES RECAPTURES SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIP FROM JAPANESE

A second place gained by Jack Medica in the 1,500 Metres Free Style at the Olympic Games at Berlin was sufficient to give the United States the Men's Swimming Championship, which was taken from them by the Japanese in the 1932 Games held nt Los Angeles.

The Americans also retained the Women's Swimming Championship in spite of a spirited challenge by Holland's mermaids. They had only three and a half points to spare at the end.

Many German successes were registered in the rowing events. Germany finished a long way ahead of the other countries, although Great Britain won the double sculls and United States the eight-our race.

THIRD CRICKET TEST

ENGLAND MAKES GOOD START AGAINST ALL INDIA

Magnificent batting by Walter Hammond, who scored 217 runs, and T. S. Worthington, who made 128, enabled England to put up 471 runs for eight wickets in the third and final Cricket Test against India which commenced at the Oval on Saturday.

These two batsmen established a new English Test fourthwicket partnership in this match, when they added 266 runs during the 175 minutes that they were associated together at the wicket. 🤊

WILLIAM MORRIS: ARTIST, WRITER, SOCIALIST. Edited by May Morris, with an Introduction by Bornard Shaw. (Basil Blackwell, 2 vols., 52s. 6d.)

If T was a good idea of Miss Morris to collect in these two stately volumes over a thousand unprinted pages of her father's work. We cannot have too much of him, and I can imagine few things more healthy for the Socialist Movement than a return to the spirit he embodied.

His fine militancy, his hatred of ugliness, his noble anger, his love of, and faith in, the common man, all these are supremely illustrated

The Morris they reveal is essentially the Morris we already know. Whether he is clastising Bellamy's suburban Utopia, or noting the impossibility of anarchism, or depicting, with incomparable vigour, the horrors of "Bloody Sunday," or writing on a coal strike or the artisan as artist or what a factory might be like-it is always the old, incomparable Morris whom to know is to love and whom to love is to be made inescapably a living part of

A Great Artist

These thousand pages Illustrate once more the truth that is becoming clearer to us to-day than it was when Morris ilrat joined the Socialist Movement. The price of the capitalist system had aroused anger in great artists before him-above all in Carlyle and Dickens. But he was, I think, the first great artist in our literature consciously and deliberately to ally himself to the workers' cause and to recognise that his sympathy carried with it profound personal obligations. He paid his debt nobly. It is not only that he gave the Movement two of its imperishable classics. It is not only, also, that day in and day out he gave it that kind of personal service which is the vital condition of its health. It is not only that he took the pains to equip himself to be a formidable controversialist in its

Perhaps even more important than all this is the road that led him to Socialism. He came to it through the sheer intensity of his moral insight. He joined it because, as a great artist. he could not bear the meanness and the ugliness of the lives about him. Others had seen, not less vividly than he, the hollowness of a civilisation built only on the cash nexus. Others, again, and notably Matthew

Arnold, had emphasised how unreal were the pretensions of the governing class to the power they enjoyed.

But Morris was not content with exposure. He attacked the roots of the

HERE'S something about a gunman that goes to the head of ardiences and readers nowadays.

However law-abiding they may be, they invariably rise to the criminal occasion. Of course, the killer must be trailed and caught in the end. But while the hunt is on, he holds the screen and the

Leaving the psychologist to explain the phenomenon of this mass-interest in murderers, I commend Mr. Greene's new novel to all those who are tired of thin, mechanical literary sleuthing and thrillers that sadly fail, to thrill. For a gunnan has gone to this author's head in splendidly sensational

An Englishman in the pay of an armament ring assassinates a foreign Minister. Another Power is implicated-and Europe grinds rapidly into general mobilisation for war. If the truth can come out in time. Armnged-

Against this alguificant background, Mr. Greene sets a host of flying figures -detectives, journalists, slum-dwellers. Londoners and Midlanders. A nightmare host, intelligently seen, with each character vividiy and sometimes viciously alive. A nightmare which will disturb your waking moments, and, I hope, agitate your conscience.

THE WEATHER IN THE STREETS. By Resamend Lehmann. . (Collins, 8s.)

TN this long and carefullywritten novel, Miss Lehmann reintroduces several characters from her Invitation to the Waltz, in particular, the two sisters, Olivia and Kate, who have grown older but not appreciably wiser. Kate, happily married, has entered the 'settled down" period. Olivia, a murderee if ever there was one, has made-and broken-a disastrous marringe with a spincless poet. But she still has her dreams. One of them is that Rollo Spencer, rich and handsome, is an admirable person, and that his mother is a woman whose approval is worth having. So she and Rollo, who is married also, become lovers in secret. Rollo's mother finds out. And at the end we are not sure whether she has succeeded in parting them or not. banal. Actually it is not. Although I have a strong suspicion that this sort Goodbye, Romance.

By Glibert Frankau. (Hutchinson, 8s. 6d.)

LTHOUGH it deals with the A hackneyed theme of huswife, this is the most serious story that Mr. Frankau has written for a long, long, time.

It is a serious attempt to show you how a small group of men and women might react under abnormal circumstances - and the author's asides on Nazism and Fascism bring the book right up-

But his sense of dialogue is reminiscent of Galsworthy, and he is deserting sex romantics for a more realistic world. Despite the Old School Tie, which flaps too often in these pages, this is a very readable and workmanlike tale.

ECLIPSE BROUGHT 'SALVATION'

Bombay, Aug. 1. Three hundred thousand people crowded into a small village,—all bent on securing an immortal dip in the sacred pond on the occasion of the solar eclipse. That was the scene late in June at the village of Kurukshetra, Punjab.

The affair is aptly described as "India in miniature." Babus from Bengal wearing white burnooses four yards long, rubbed shoulders with Maswaris from Rajputana; the tall, hefty, turbaned Frontiersmen contrasted sharply with the puny, barefoot, Orthodox Brahmin from South India.

Fifty thousand "sadhus" (wandering ascetics) belonging to 72 sects had gathered from all parts of India. Some of them, riding on princely elephants commanded no less respect Oscar Slater Married than ruling princes, and realized several thousand rupees as offerings from the simple village folk.

Besides the "sadhus," the grounds awarmed with men and women beggars and lepers, both genuine and fake. They carried a cup or utensil in each hand and demanded silver or copper to pay the debt of the sun, which, according to the Indian astrological calendar, had been imprisoned by the planets Rahu and Ketu for default. One of these planets is represented by a scrpent with a man's head and the other by a man with serpent's head. eclipse is caused when one or the other of the planets swallows the sun for failure to pay his debts. He is released only when some charitable person pays them by giving alms. It was estimated that for this eclipse more than £750,000 was collected to release the sun. One heggar collected £16 in five hours at the tank. The Maharajas of Nabha and Patin-la Baba Kali Kamiwala fed 70,000 pilgrims free for several days. One class which did a ronring business was the "Pandas," who may literally

STORM DEATH ROLL

The first CHORUS Rehearsal for Yan, a fitter employed at the Kowloon Motor Bus Company, was found floating in a flooded area over a drain in Mongkok Road this morning. His jacket appeared to have been caught on a nall, and it seems likely that the man was thus held eaptive until he was drowned BURIED ALIVE

A man was burled when a house collapsed at Pakshuleung village just before midnight, but this morning he was still alive, efforts to excavate him being unsuccessful. One man is believed to be dead following the collapse of a house in Blacksmith's Lane at 8 o'clock.

The junk, No. T2099H, of which the muster is Wong Sung-sing, was unchored in Salwanho near Shaukiwan. It was loaded with a cargo of salt, and had aboard her a crew of about twenty men. When the boat sank, the occupants all swam to another near-by, but two men were later found to be missing. Another man was seriously injured when struck by floating debris, and was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital.

The Master of a class II boat, No. 178V, has also reported that about 2 a.m. to-day, whilst his boat was anchored in the typhoon shelter in Causeway Bay, loaded with a general cargo, the cargo was all blown overboard and lost. Nobody on the bont was injured,

ENGAGEMENT RING COSTING 1150

Mr. Hawee, bought an engagement ring, costing about £150. On November 11 he told Mrs. Hayde, plaintiff's mother, that they had formally become engaged, and the matter was senled with something to drink. At Mr. Hawes's request, plaintiff obtained release from her beauty parlour contract. . Mins Hayde agreed to accompany

Mr. Howes to Britain to be married there, it being arranged that they should return to set up home in Calcutta. They sailed from Bombay in April,

MY MISTAKEN MARRIAGE!

By the COUNTESS OF COVADONGA

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 1. MY romance is over. I married the Count because I loved him. Our courtship, while we were both on holiday in Switzerland, was idyllic.

All I ask now is my freedom and a return to a normal, quiet life here with my family and friends. The Count's title meant nothing to me when we married. It means nothing to me now. While in Europe after our marriage I spent months at the Count's bedside when he was in constant suffering from hacmorrhages and required unremitting attention.

Often I was forced to postpone trips when he developed a swollen knee or elbow or other symptoms of hæmophilia. Here, when the Count was ill, I attended him, and many have volunteered to testify as to how I cared for my husband. I gave him the happy years of my own youth.

I am really weary of the whole mess, I detest the squabbles this affair entails.

I particularly resent the fact that Alfonso did not specify incompatibility as the ground for his suit. That, at least, would have been the truth. I never had any intention of mentioning any other woman in my suit

FORMER HONGKONG CRICKETER TAKES WICKETS AGAINST MALAYA

SEVEN VICTIMS IN INNINGS

Alec Growder, former Hongkong Cricket Club bowler, continues to dominate cricket in Singapore. Playing for the Colony against Malaya a few days ago, he captured twelve wickets for 52 runs in the course of two innings. In the first innings he took 7 for 31 and in the second 5 for 21.

following comments apropos the match and Growder's performances were made by Singapore Free Press sports commentator, in a recent issue.

A feature of Malayan cricket this year has been the dominance of the ball over the bat, and the Colony-F.M.S. clash over the week-end was no exception. Reports of the wicket being bad were only to a certain extent correct. and I do not think the bowling was as good as the batsmen made it out to be. We have almost become used to seeing batsmen trying to play slow bowling from their crease, brespective of its length, direction or spin, but one expects that players picked for an F.M.S. side would really attempt to use their feet and deal with it in the correct way.

GROWDER HEADS COLONY BOWLERS

 $^{-}$ A. C. Growder, the Queensland 1 player, crowned, his as yet short cricketing career in Malaya, by his feat of 12 wickets for 52 runs. This puts him at the head of Colony bowlers in the series for no other trundler has taken so many wickets. O. Scharenguivel has. occupied the head of the list since 1925 when he took 11 F.M.S. wickets for 57 runs at Kunia Lumpur, in spite of which the side lost. Six years before though Dr. J. A. Scharengulvel took nine wickets for 57 runs at Kunia Lumpur. Two States bowlers though have taken more than 12 wickets in a match. the champion being R. M. Mackenzie with 10 for 80 rups in 1911 at Penning (9 for 48 and 7 for 32) and E. N. W. Wyntt is next with 13 for 104 in 1907 in Singapore (7 for 46 and 6 for 58). Growder's main assets as a bowler are his ability to control his length and break and to introduce deceptive flight to his deliveries.

Record Price For Public Auction in England

The highest price ever paid for a polo pony at public auction in England was realised at Messrs. Tattersall's sale, at Knightsbridge last month when Major N. W. Lenf (late 15th/19th Hussurs) received 1,000 nulneas for Valentine, a six-year-old brown mare (by Bay Rhum II.---Dorothy), bred by Mr. F. J. Ballour in the Argentine.

She was played in California last winter by the owner and by Mr. E. H. Tyrrell-Martin in the international matches at Hurlingham, as well as in the Rochampton Open and Champlon Cup tournaments. The previous record English auction price for a pole pony, which has stood for over ten years, was 860 guineas.

Major Leaf sent up his entire stud of nine, all but one of which were sold for an aggregate of 3,394 guineas, or an average of just over 424 guinens. Other good prices were 700 guineas for Venado, a nine-yearold Argentine-bred bay gelding, imported by Major S. C. Deed, which was also played by Mr. . Tyrrell-Martin: 400 guineas for Rosa, a chestnut; 340 guineus for Domingo. a chestnut unsexed son of Bay Rhum II.; 300 guineas for Maybe, a bay, and 260 guineas for Elena, a chestnut

He Is At The Parting Of The Ways Says Trevor Wignall

London, July 22, The announcement from New York yesterday that Miss Helen Vinson (Mrs. Fred Perry) was recovering from a sudden illness permits me to relate that for several recent days the British Davis Cup tennis team was in danger of losing its principal player in the challenge round against Australia, says Trevor Wignall in the Daily Express.

Prior to his defeat by Budge, the week, Perry was so upset by a cablefgrom he received that he caused it to be known that if a long-distance call he proposed to put in to his wife was not entirely satisfactory he would sail for New York three days before the final matches in the Davis Cup tournament were due to be contested. This, let it be emphasised, is not mentioned as an excuse for the trimming he accepted from Budge. Perry, is rurely at the top of his form when titles are not at stake. ON THE BORDER

I do not think I am giving away basis. Sam Francis (U.S.) won with too much if I say that Perry is once more, at the parting of the ways. When he reaches New York on Aug. 10.next the strongest effort yet made will be launched to induce him to turn professional.

It is realised that paid-for-play tennis is in a bad slump, and it is further believed that he is the sole person who can again transform it into a highly remunerative proposi-

WAKE UP YOUR

And You'll Jump Out of Bed Feeling You Could Push a Bus Over
The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Balts, flazy drinks, palatable laxatives and harsh purgatives are makeshifts. A mere bown movement doesn't get at the cause, it takes the famous, sure acting Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up", himmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's on the red package.

SPANISH

The spectacle of dead and wounded in the streets of the cities of Spain is commonplace, with fierce fighting in a score of sectors between rebile and logalists. In San Sebastian, as the illustration shows, hospitals are receiving their daily quota of casualties, and women and children stand at the entrance, with dectors and muses, hoping to identify victims of the civil strife.

WAR'SENDING SIGHT ATTACK INSURGENTS SAN SEBASTIAN

London, Aug. 16. After a month of civil war, fighting in Spain is still raging with increasing bitterness and with apparently no end in sight. An insurgent attack on San Sebastian was resumed the typhoon. this morning, three columns of lorries loaded with men, guns and ammunition, participating in the advance.

It is expected that the rebel cruisers, Canarias, Espana and Almirante Cervera will co-operate in the attack by bombarding the heights dominating San Sebastian. But heavy fog and bombing by Government air- has made during the past decade. craft has hitherto prevented his.

Clash Possible

Lisbon, Aug. 10. After the capture of Badajoz, a column of Foreign Legionnaires and Moorish troops were reported to be marching towards Menida, where a strong column of Government troops is stated to have arrived, intending to march on to Badajoz.—Reuter.

French Village Bombed

Hendaye, Aug. 16. A-Spanish plane, evidently by mistake, bombed the French frontier village of Biriatou last evening. One bomb hit a house, but the four occupants, who were playing cards, were unhurt. It is not known whether the plane was a Government or Insurgent machine. An inquiry has been opened. -Reuter: -Reuter.
